- Images should be high-resolution, clear, and visually engaging, reflecting the professionalism and energy of the brand. Strong contrast and clean composition help maintain a modern, polished look.

- The preferred tone leans toward a positive and approachable vibe — showcasing people, properties, and moments in a way that feels authentic and uplifting.

- When possible, avoid stock photos that show identifiable faces, ensuring the visuals don’t misrepresent or attach individuals to the company.

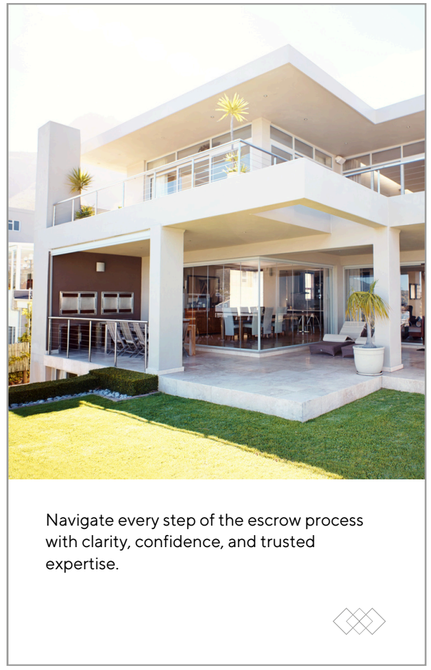

- When it comes to color, images should avoid heavy yellow or warm tints
- if possible. Instead, aim for a balanced look with neutral or cooler tones, leaning slightly toward blue to align with the brand palette and maintain consistency across all media.
